Martha is a multifaceted musician and creative artist whose talent and virtuoso playing are incomparable. In her musical profession, she's a composer, orchestral/choral conductor, pianist, harpist, organist, and singer; however, she also plays as an amateur many other instruments. She has won top prizes and awards for her piano performances in the Dominican Republic and the USA, and her improvisational skills mesmerize audiences. Martha is the only professional musician who has performed a harp concerto and a piano concerto in the same concert with the top symphony orchestra from the Dominican Republic and she was chosen to play her piano composition "Celebration" at the Super Bowl Houston Live 2017. She did undergraduate studies in piano and harp in the Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico and she has three graduate degrees from Stephen F. Austin State University (a MM in piano, a MM in harp, and a MM in choral conducting). Martha has a Youtube channel where she shares her compositions and performances. Martha is the music director, organist, and parish administrator at St. Barnabas Episcopal Church in Wilmington, Delaware.
